FOREWORD

Down through the years, we've looked forward to this moment. All too soon it arrived and we now find ourselves at the crossroad of our lives—faced with the decisions that will determine our destiny. We hope that the guidance we received in our school days will help us become a credit to our community, and that each in some way may contribute to the betterment of life.

We've been together for only one year—a year which was filled with wonderful moments. The thrill of that first day at our new school—the new friendships which were made and the honor of being the first class to graduate from Cocalico Union—all these are memories which will forever remain in our hearts. Though our school days are now gone, we hope the memories can be recalled through the pages of this book. To the many of you who could not share these moments with us, we hope that this first edition of the Ko-Ka-Le-Ko will bring to you a small part of the life of the class of '56.

You will now see C.U.H.S. through the eyes of KO-KO, a little Indian boy, who was as much amazed and bewildered as you were on his first tour of our school.

KO-KO'S TOUR THROUGH C U H S

We the Senior Class of Cocalico Union High School dedicate this book, the KOKALEKO, to our parents; who, in turn, have dedicated their lives to our cause.

We wish to express our thanks and gratitude to them for helping us reach one of our main goals in life.

MESSAGE:

To the class of 1956:

The first major goal in the process of providing better educational facilities for our school district is now a reality. I refer to the completion and occupying of the new Cocalico Union High School.

Your class is the first to be privileged to share the advantages of this modern school plant. I trust that the one year which you will spend in it will be both pleasant and profitable and that both you and the community will remain active participants in its further development.

My best wishes to you.

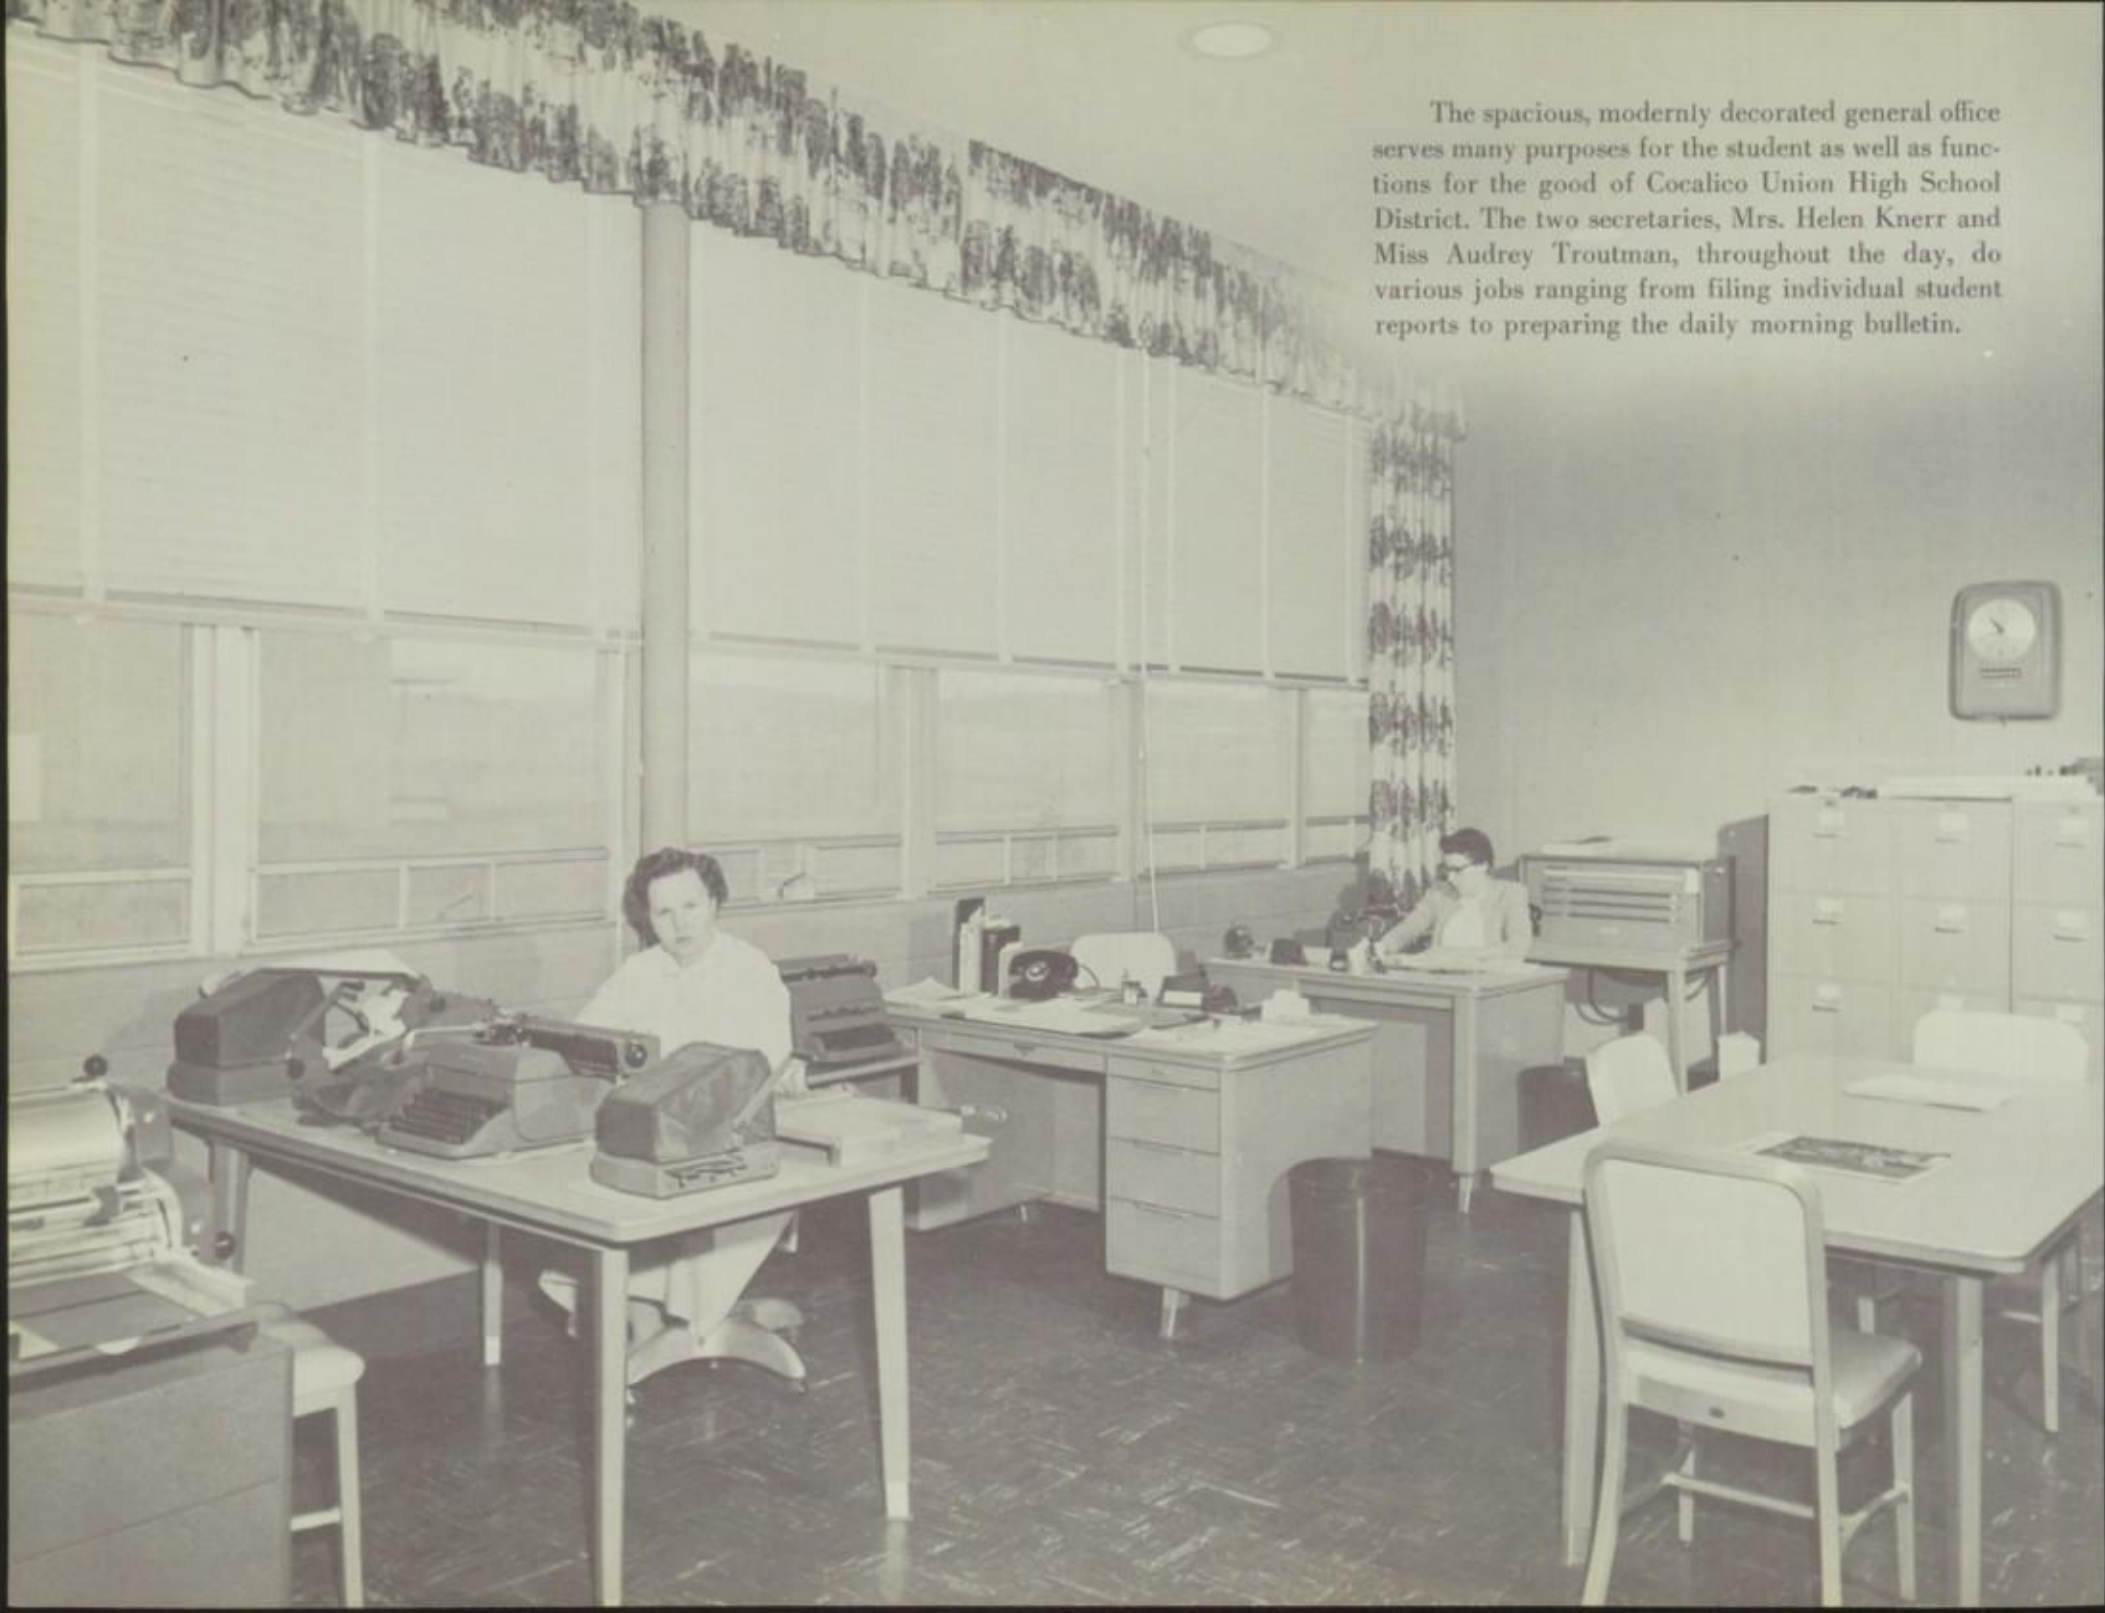

Carl B. Musselman, Pres.
Cocalico Union School Board

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

AUTHORITY

Paul S. Leshner—Chairman
Alger S. Shirk—Vice-President
Richard B. Heisey—Secretary
George C. Bollman—Treasurer
Robert L. Hershey—Assistant Secretary and Treasurer

The spacious, modernly decorated general office serves many purposes for the student as well as functions for the good of Cocalico Union High School District. The two secretaries, Mrs. Helen Knerr and Miss Audrey Troutman, throughout the day, do various jobs ranging from filing individual student reports to preparing the daily morning bulletin.

SUPERVISING PRINCIPAL: Mr. John P. Krick

During the last five years we have witnessed the most enthusiastic effort in providing improved educational facilities for the pupils and teachers of Pennsylvania since the adoption of the Public School law in 1834. School districts are being consolidated to provide for better administration and millions of dollars are being spent to provide for adequate housing. Both the state and the local districts are making a concerted effort to put Pennsylvania into the forefront in the way of educational opportunities for its public school population.

We are fortunate in Cocalico Union School District that both the Board of School Directors and the citizens were favorably disposed toward the organization of a Union School District. We now occupy one of the most modern schools in the country, both in the way that it is constructed and in the equipment that it houses. It exists for the pupils, and since there is yet no substitute for a good education, we trust that you will take full advantage of your school's offerings.

John P. Krick,
Supervising Principal

To the class of 1956:

Turmoil

Strife

Chaos

These words typify the troubled world of which you graduating seniors are becoming citizens. You are fortunate in having been offered the tools of knowledge necessary for successful living in such an environment.

My sincerest hope is that the use to which you put these tools may in some small way help to remedy the existing circumstances so as to make them read:

Peace

Harmony

Order

Best of luck to you on a successful endeavor.

Donald F. Peters

To the class of 1956:

To you goes the honor of being the first class to complete a full year within the walls of the new Cocalico Union Jr.-Sr. High School. It is my sincerest hope that the advantages of these modern facilities may have aided you in launching upon your chosen careers. I wish you, in your endeavors, a degree of success, which may be so great that it shall be an inspiration to the members of our future graduating classes.

Ralph F. Lutz

To the class of 1956:

My most hearty and sincere congratulations upon reaching the pinnacle of high school achievement—that of graduation. I hope the knowledge, training, and experiences you have gained thus far, will serve as a springboard for you to render greater service to mankind in the future.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Great advantages are given to pupils who become ill or injured during school sessions because of the modernly equipped health dept.

Mrs. Merla Hulshizer, school nurse, has her own office where she keeps health records for pupils of Cocalico Union School District. Although she now has a permanent office she makes scheduled trips to the elementary schools also. She gives assistance to the school dentist and physicians in giving the yearly health examinations.

Senior girls gave assistance to the nurse during the polio vaccine campaign. These were Jeanette Gensemer, Priscilla Good, Maryanne Miller, Joyce Fitterling and Joyce Flicker.

SENIOR HISTORY

The Senior class of Cocalico Union High School for the first time this year were known to one another as classmates. They attended one school together. Students from Gov. Mifflin, East Cocalico, and Denver High School joined together as one to make the class of '56.

Four years ago they were three separate classes attending schools as freshmen. There were 45 freshmen at E.C. and 65 at Denver. Adamstown students then attended Gov. Mifflin and were part of a large class.

Freshmen at East Cocalico High School were under the guidance of Mrs. Gerstenlauer. We were now in high school and as one money making project already planning for highlights of high school, the Jr.-Sr. Prom and Washington trip, we sold Cocalico Union sweat-shirts. A class Halloween and Christmas party was held for the enjoyment of everyone. We chose as our leaders these officers—Eugene Heft-Pres., Joyce Fitterling-Vice-Pres., Joyce Flicker-Sec., and John White-Treas. At the end of the year we spend a day at Hershey Park.

At the same time the Denver students were getting their first whirl at high school and making new acquaintances with their new classmates from West Cocalico School District, who when they became freshmen attended D.H.S. Our new Latin teacher and our advisor Miss Daily guided us through our freshman year. Our officers to lead us through the year were Ronald Fortna-Pres., Robert Getz-Vice-Pres., Jeanette Gensemer-Sec., and Nevin McQuate-Treas. A climax to the year for both the East Cocalico and Denver students was the arrival of our freshman rings of which we were very proud.

One year of high school has passed and now we were Sophomores, no longer to be classified as underclassmen but to have a part and be a part in Senior high.

When we entered our Sophomore year the Denver and East Cocalico students appointed a committee to pick their class colors. They chose green and gray and we ordered jackets and hats in those colors. Now we were called the class of '56 of C.U.H.S.

At E.C. there were 41 of us with Mr. Hoffmaster as our class advisor. We had these officers: Lowell Haws-Pres., Clifford Hirneisen-Vice-Pres., Carol Sweigart-Sec., and John White-Treas.

We had a food sale at Fritztown and a Roller Skating Party in efforts to raise money. We held a Biology Fair of materials we collected over the summer to be displayed for our parents. At the end of the year we went to Hershey Park and took a fishing trip to Indian River.

At Denver the Sophomores were given the honor of initiating the Frosh. We were also allowed to make preparations with the Seniors for the annual Halloween Dance. We had a very successful hayride, bake sale, and the Sweetheart Dance in February. The Sophomore officers were Maryanne Miller-Pres., Robert Getz-Vice-Pres., Linda Levenson-Sec., and Ralph Roseboro-Treas.

The following year we became Juniors. The highlight of this year was receiving our class rings. For this event a committee from E.C. was appointed to meet with the committee from Denver to select the style. The rings ranged from pearl to onyx, with variations of ruby, gold, or blue spinel.

We also had the privilege to hold the Jr.-Sr. Prom for the Seniors, Denver to have the Prom in the new C.U. gym. The theme of the Prom was Davy Jones' Locker. East Cocalico presented their theme "Under Paris Skies" at E. C. We both worked hard to make these big nights successful. Funds for these events were raised by making candy by the students at Denver High and a roller skating party at "Sinky"; a bake sale, and a food sale at Fritztown were held by E.C. Many E.C. students spend their last day of school at Hershey Park. Officers for the year at E.C. were Lowell Haws-Pres., Clifford Hirneisen-Vice-Pres., Joyce Rathman-Sec., Joyce Fitterling-Treas., and Mr. Drumm, our class advisor. Denver chose these officers to serve during the year of '54 and '55: Robert Getz-Pres., Ralph Roseboro-Vice-Pres., Linda Levenson-Sec., Larry Meckley-Treas., and our class advisor was Mrs. Stayer.

In the fall of 1955 we entered the halls of the new Cocalico Union Jr.-Sr. High School as Seniors, being the first Senior class to attend there. Adamstown, East Cocalico, and Denver joined as one class consisting of 54 members. For the first time since the beginning of our jointure the Adamstown students became a part of the union.

Election of class officers was held at the beginning of the year. We chose these people to be our leaders during the last year of high school. They are: Lowell Haws-Pres., Harold Sweigart-Vice-Pres., Maryanne Miller-Sec., and Clifford Hirneisen-Treas. Our class advisor is Miss Rentschler.

We are separated into two sections, alphabetically by our last names, into rooms 215 and 205. Homeroom 215, 12A, had as their homeroom teacher, Mr. Beam. 12B in 205 had Miss Rentschler.

We held a Christmas Party for the class at the home of Linda Levenson, which was loads of fun for everyone. We sold programs at football games, sold refreshments at basketball games, made candy, sold pen and pencil sets, held two dances, and a roller skating party at Sinking Springs as some of our ways to raise money for the long-awaited Washington trip planned for June. In March we presented our class play "Out of the Frying Pan" a down to earth comedy.

We selected our class flower, the Talisman Rose and our motto, "You can never plan the future by the past" and with this thought, we the class of '56, leave the halls of Cocalico Union for the last time and enter into the world as adults, always to remember and never to forget our alma mater—C.U.

"56" PROPHECY

Time 1966

Place—Cocalico Union High School

There have been six new additions to the building since 1956. The most recent donated to Jim Weinhold, C. U. Principal, by Bob Getz, the very popular newly elected state senator from Schoeneck. Linda Levenson, editor of the Denver Tribune, in an interview with Bob on his election day wrote an article which got instantaneous attention from a certain Sam Leisey.

Bob, who also has oil well in Texas, is making a plea for someone to bring all the members of the 1956 graduating class of C. U. together for a victory dinner at his alma mater, Cocalico Union High School. He offered a huge reward, 100,000 shares of oil stock to the person who could locate the 54 members.

Sam Leisey, well known FBI Agent New York City, jumped at the chance. He called on the now famous chemist Lowell Thomas Haws, who recently discovered Mercuriodine, an after dinner treat guaranteed to clean your breath while it cleans your teeth. Mr. Haws remembered reading in the paper sometime ago, about the well known classical and pop recording artist Betty Caruso, known to us as Carol Sweigart, who's currently appearing in New York City, at the Metropolitan Opera. Going back stage after the performance Sam asked Carol if she knew where any of the 1956 graduating class was. Carol said he should notify her press agent Melvin Schmeck, as he would know more than she. Calling Mr. Schmeck, Sam found out about Barbara Kring, recently vacationing in Cleveland, Ohio. He hired her as his secretary for the tour. After chartering a private flight for his trip, he got as his pilot the former Air Force major, Cliff Yount. Co-pilot was Lee Wingenroth. The flight also had a privately employed nurse, Miss Priscilla Good, since Sam had fears of getting air sick. After stopping off at Cleveland for Barbara they left for Chicago, Illinois, where they found Brent Binkley, now superintendent of the Chicago Stockyards with his very competent help mate and typist, Thelma Hirneisen. Brent was overseeing affairs when Sam made his appearance. Soon Sam left. Brent almost herded him in a railroad car to be shipped to the slaughter house.

Going to the airport from the stockyards Sam "Spade" Leisey stopped to look at a new housing project in the outskirts of Chicago. He found Raymond Martzall supposedly surveying the land.

After leaving "Motz," Sam went to the airport and decided to eat at the airport restaurant. Rochelle Lausch was his waitress and Sam asked her to sit down and chat awhile. But Rochelle told Sam she was very busy and had to wait on other people in the restaurant. However, Sam was very convincing.

When he finally left Chicago for Iowa they headed for Des Moines. While there, they heard of a large dairy farm on the outskirts of the city, which had a very good reputation. Driving out they found Cliff Hirneisen directing his farm hands at their many chores. Cliff had the latest in equipment and was pleased to show Sam around the farm. He told Sam and his associates, he had heard Donald Boyer was starting a farm near Omaha, Nebraska. Sam said he'd make Omaha his next stop.

When they arrived, Sam decided he was pretty tired doing all this hopping around the countryside so he asked his co-pilot, Lee Wingenroth, if he would find and interview Donald while he went into town to see a show. He immediately recognized the star as Marjorie Markel.

On arriving at his meeting place with Lee, he found him there madder'n a hornet. He told Sam he saw Donald, but that hereafter he wants Sam to understand he's a flier, not a bloodhound.

Their next stop was Colorado Springs, Colorado, where a new jet center was being added to the city airport. They already had jet air force ace, Robert DeLong taking stunt tests in the jets. Sam's pilot Cliff Yount decided he'd take a spin in a jet to see what it was like.

Larry Meckley met Sam there and showed him around the airport. He had formerly been in the air force and was now a pilot for the TWA airlines. After leaving Sam, he took off in a huge passenger plane for a non-stop flight to New York with the charming air line hostess Janet Musser. Janet was planning to make this her last flight. After this she was getting married to a big man in the real estate business and planned to retire.

There was a privately employed nurse at the airport. The nurse was Faye Pierce. Faye and Priscilla were busy treating Cliff for shock after his little excursion with DeLong. When he was feeling normal again, they took off for Reno, where they found John White, now an accomplished lawyer, expertly arguing his case.

"But your honor," John said, "What if she did throw the kitchen sink with all the dishes in it, at her husband, to give him a fractured upper lip. I still feel she should have $1000 monthly alimony. After all, he didn't have to throw her through the door. If he wanted to get her out, he could have, at least, opened it."

After talking over old times with John, Sam, his secretary and his two pilots, left for Los Angeles. Drawing up to a service station on Wilshire Boulevard, they saw the owner and proprietor, Fred Binkley, coming out to say hello. Fred now owns a chain of service stations in and around Los Angeles and is doing quite well for himself.

On leaving Fred, Sam decided to visit the motion picture industry. Driving up to the MGM Studio and going into the office, Madeline Fritz, the Studio receptionist, told Sam to go ahead on a tour around the studio lot. He found Janet Martin a stenographer for the studio. She told Sam several of the former class of '56 were employed at this or other studios in Los Angeles or neighboring Hollywood.

Sgt. Leisy met Eugene Heft at the studio, Heft is a radio technician at a local radio station and was collecting records to be played over on the the programs he supervised. Frank Sinatra was in conference with his secretary Elaine Gehman on the set of his current film. Joyce Rathman was giving him a vocal lesson and asked him how he ever expects to get anywhere if he doesn't try to sing like she tells him.

Marlon Brando was also in this picture but he was making his monthly visit to his psychiatrist, Jane Witmer, and was holding up production of the picture.

Grace Kelly with her private secretary, Audrey Reddig, was having a fashion consultation with her fashion designer Barbara Hoffman. Barbara and Audrey didn't seem to agree on whether or not Grace should wear a certain dress in the picture. Audrey decided to call in the seamstress who was making the dress in Hollywood, which was her former classmate, Etta Schnader, for her opinion. Etta agreed with Barbara that the dress was not too daring, even though Audrey insisted Grace's elbows were showing. Grace wore the dress.

Sam stopped off at the University of So. Calif. where he found Barbara Sweigart as Dean of Women. Barbara said Thelma Tucker is in the University faculty as a phys. ed. teacher. Soon Thelma came charging in the office. Barbara told Thelma to show Sam and his eager companions around the University.

First Thelma took Sam to the school dentist, Ralph Roseboro. Ralph was quite busy pulling a tooth at the time and was ably assisted by his nurse, Maryanne Miller. When they had pulled the tooth and Sam came in to talk to them, they had him in the chair and two teeth filled before he could tell them he came only to pay a visit, not for an appointment. Sam got out of there fast.

A new section was being built on the campus, Thelma said, and Ken Pentz of the '56 C. U. graduating class was head engineer of the addition. Don Hackman was contracted to be the electrician.

Don was there talking things over with Pentz. It seems this wasn't going to be an ordinary addition with Hackman's and Pentz's combined brain power, it was going to be quite different.

After Sam left the University, he and his crew took off for Las Vegas, New Mexico. On dining at the popular night club "The Dunes," they saw the cigarette girl, Rosalee Rupp, talking to two marines that looked familiar. They were Donald Keith and Eugene Dietrich. When they saw Sam they insisted on treating him to champagne. Sam didn't try too hard to persuade them not to. He finally went back to the plane and they left for New York, stopping off at St. Louis, Mo., where Larry Gensemer, who was now married and had a huge farm, showed Sam around. Sam soon had to leave again, as time was running short and so was his money.

When he reached New York, he went to the Bellvue Hospital. There he found Janet Fry filing the day's health reports in the office, when he walked in. She told him Joyce Flicker and Pearl Gehman were in the operating room at the moment on an emergency call.

Joyce Fitterling was making the nightly rounds and came off duty as Jeanette Gensemer went on. Jeanette stopped for a quick chat with Sam before going on duty. When Miss Flicker came off duty, she and Nurse Fitterling went shopping, so Sam went along.

They went to a new supermarket, recently opened by the owner and operator Harold Sweigart, known to many as Jessie. Jessie showed Sam around and was very glad to talk to him.

After leaving the supermarket, and wanting to see some sights, Sam decided to go to the United Nations building. It was there he found Connie Bixler as Sec. for the General Assembly and Vivian Brubaker reporter of the New York Times, both taking notes. Sam tried to convince Vivian to write a story on his famous jaunt around the U. S. but she told him he wasn't famous enough for the Times and Connie quickly agreed. Sam was insulted.

After he left the U. N. Sam visited a very exclusive night school that taught Business. Here he found Joyce Showalter teaching book-keeping, Karen Ochs typing and Jane Kauffman shorthand. After sitting in all three classes Sam decided he was no businessman. They all had secretarial jobs during the day and taught at night. That night Sam treated them all to dinner at the Stork Club.

At home Senator Getz received Sam's telegram saying he had notified all 54 members of the '56 C. U. graduating class for Getz's victory dinner and they all agreed to come.

The victory dinner was a gala affair. Every one was happy over Bob's election to the Senate, "Now you'll clean up the Capitol," they said, and Bob of course agreed he would with very little effort at all.

Sam said he was very glad to receive Bob's check for his troubles. He said he'd spent his last dime taking Karen, Jane, and Joyce to the Stork Club. "Not because the food was that expensive," said Sam, "but what appetites."

KO-KA-LE-KO STAFF

Advisor, Editor-in-Chief, Business Manager, Associate Editor.

The staff, throughout the year worked diligently, trying to make their annual a success. While worrying about meeting deadlines the editors read copy, studied page layouts, and rearranged photographs. As they represented the entire senior class their responsibilities were many. Each and every one of the staff members hopes you appreciate their labors and also enjoy the Ko-Ka-Le-Ko itself.

"EAGLE" STAFF

The first newspaper of the C.U.H.S. was named the "Cocalico Eagle" by majority vote of the student body. Six issues were published during the year, compiled and edited by Carol Sweigart or Linda Levenson. The last two issues were put out by Michael Weinhold, assistant editor, in preparation for his duties next year as editor. He was supervised by Carol and Linda.

The number of pages varied because a standard was not set for the first year. Each issue contained an editorial by both editors, "The Eagles Nest of Sports," news and sports articles and a liberal sprinkling of feature articles. The joke section, "Old Eagle Eye" was a favorite among the readers.

The members of the "Cocalico Eagle" staff contributed their time and effort, thus making the first newspaper of C.U.H.S., a success.

JUNIORS

The Junior class of Cocalico Union High School consists of 75 members formerly from Gov. Mifflin, East Cocalico, and Denver High Schools, whose homerooms are 213 and 214 and whose teachers are Miss Neidhardt and Mr. Drumm. The class officers are Mike Weinhold—president, Ken Hirneisen—vice president, Loma White—secretary and Madelyn Henly—treasurer.

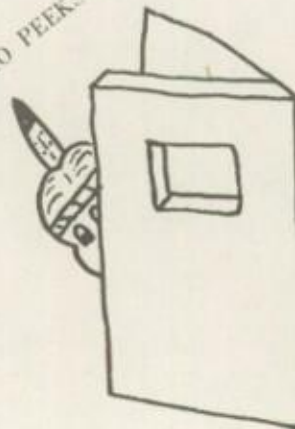

Characteristics of the junior class are their black and white jackets and their "New Slant" rings.

The juniors were kept busy this year planning bake sales, roller skating parties and the annual Jr.-Sr. prom.

Their elected representatives for the Student Council are Ken Hirneisen, Madelyn Henly, and Lorna White.

The president of the Student Council is elected from the junior class. The presidential nominees selected from the junior class by the council were Kay Musser, Joe Nissley, Fay Weik, and Michael Weinhold. The student body at a general election elected Mike Weinhold, as president of the Student Council, to serve the remainder of the '56 term and for the entire '57 term.

HARD AT WORK

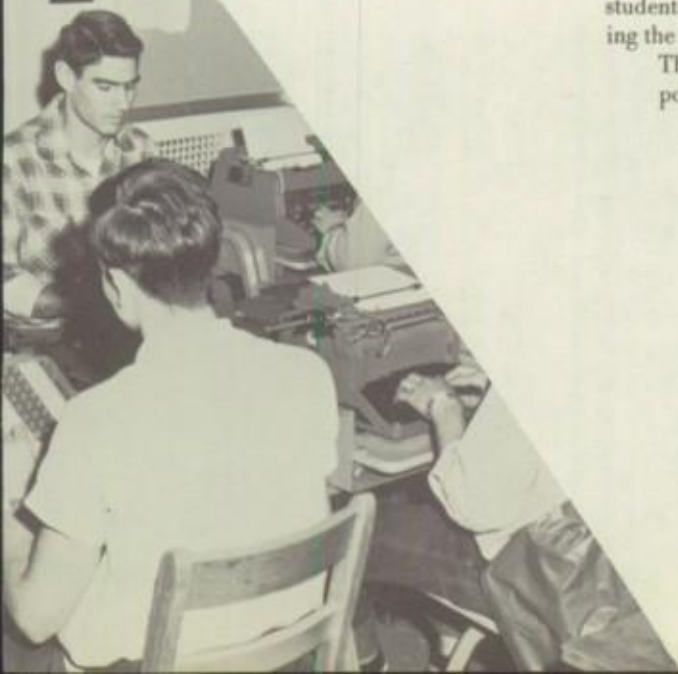

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Personal typing is an extracurricular activity, taken advantage of by the academic students. This course, taught by Miss Rentschler, commercial teacher, takes place during the last period each Friday.

The students begin by learning the keyboard, repeating the letters and their positions until they become routine and automatic. Later they learn how to type research papers, bibliographies, various forms of business letters, and other things they may need in their schoolwork or in their personal life. In their typing, speed is stressed but not to the point of inaccuracy.

The course is mainly for the students' own personal benefit, to help them receive better marks, and in later years to speed along any written work that may be necessary.

SOPHOMORES

10-C Biology Class

The Class of '58 resides in homerooms 202 under the supervision of Mr. Hoffmaster, Room 207, Mr. Hill and 201 Mr. Bucks. Their major activity for the year is making soup once a month. For their class colors they have chosen navy blue and white. They have received their class jackets in these colors.

The Sophomore class is a real asset to Cocalico Union High. We are proud they are a part of our clan.

9-C GENERAL SCIENCE CLASS

GENERAL SCIENCE

General science is the class in which many freshman learn of the strange, yet real happenings in science and nature. Many demonstrations are shown to the students to help them understand these occurrences. The student himself, does some of these experiments, under the guidance of the science teacher.

Throughout the year minerals, plants, animals and many other things of nature are studied. This subject is taught so the student may prepared for the future years in the learning of the higher sciences; such as biology, chemistry, and physics.

BIOLOGY

Instruction

The biology course, which is taught by Mr. Hoffmaster, involves the study of living plants and animals.

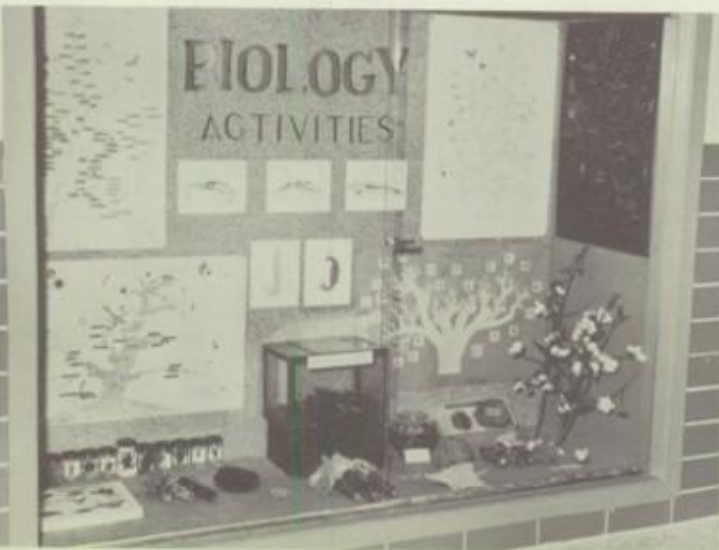

In the beginning of the year the students learn the divisions and subdivisions of the two major kingdoms, plant and animal.

Later in the course, they learn how to dissect animals and study the various types of organisms. Most of the students find this to be the most interesting part of the course.

The energetic sophomores, who have taken the course this year have had an active part in school activities, presenting both an assembly program and an exhibit.

CHEMISTRY

Denver Chemistry Class

E. Cocalico Chemistry Class

We now find ourselves in a room where there are tables arranged in a wheel-like pattern, with a demonstration table as the hub, and it's of course.....the chemistry room.

Our chemistry lab here at Cocalico Union is equipped with the most modern of facilities.

Some of the equipment includes electrical hook-ups for A.C. and D.C. current, which are connected to a distribution board. The room is also equipped with a "hood," which eliminates all the odors, so characteristic of chemistry classes. Yes, this is truly a room equipped to produce chemists for the future.

PHYSICS

Here's how to do it

Instructor—Mr. Bucks

The goal of the physics course, taught by Mr. Bucks, is to cover approximately forty-five experiments which include mechanics, heat, light, magnetism, electricity, sound, and electronics.

Each physics student works with a partner, usually a boy and girl, if possible. The experiments are set up by students who try to prove the object of the experiment.

The laboratory is equipped with the best apparatus available to high schools. Fundamental as well as advanced experiments can be performed with the equipment. Three types of electricity are piped to each individual lab. table. Direct current is obtained from storage batteries, motor generators, and also variable A.C. current from 0 to 120 volts.

With the above equipment the students here at Cocalico Union have all the advantages that could possibly be offered in a modern high school.

Experimenting

The class on "lab" day

The class of '59 had 119 members who were placed in rooms 103, 104, and 204. Their homeroom teachers were Mr. Leid, Mr. Gensemer, and Mr. Stewart. These freshmen have already contributed a great deal to the improvement of their school, showing their abilities in such activities as the band, dance band, the junior high chorus and some on the "Cocalico Eagle" staff. We also saw some future athletic stars who did excellent work on the junior high basketball and football squads.

Freshman at a junior-high dance

The 35 members of the freshman Latin class, under the direction of Mrs. Leid, organized a Latin Club, "Stellae Latini."

Its representatives for the Student Council were Roy Weik and Sandra Wingenroth. The junior high cheerleaders were Linda Clay, Roberta Mowrey, Beverly Weller, Brenda Taylor, and Barbara Witmen.

With this encouraging background we feel this class will remain successful through the following years as they enter senior high school.

“DOWN IN DAVY JONES’ LOCKER”

The first prom to be held in the new gym at C. U. H. S. was in honor of the graduating class of '55. The junior class of this year chose their theme to represent the world beneath the sea. Special committees worked hard arranging the menu, sending our invitations, and planning the program. The atmosphere created by the gay decorations and dance music left in each and every person present, a memory never to be forgotten.

The Jr. High team consists of boys in seventh, eighth, and ninth grades. Its purpose is to develop the bodies of the boys physically; and mentally in acknowledgment as to how the game is played. This is to prepare the boys to give their best of basketball ability during their high school years.

JR. VARSITY

The Jr. Varsity consists of boys displaying their best of ability in the sport of basketball. Coach Albrecht is training these boys for future varsity stars of C.U.H.S.

The team, registered in Section 2 of the County League, had played neighboring schools of which many are your rivals in other sports.

The wins and losses of such a team depend not only on the ability of the players but also on the support they receive from the student body. To make winners of your future teams get out there and cheer at those games.

Coach Rampulla and Ass't. Coach Albrecht have been training the boys for a length of time preparing them for the rugged sport.

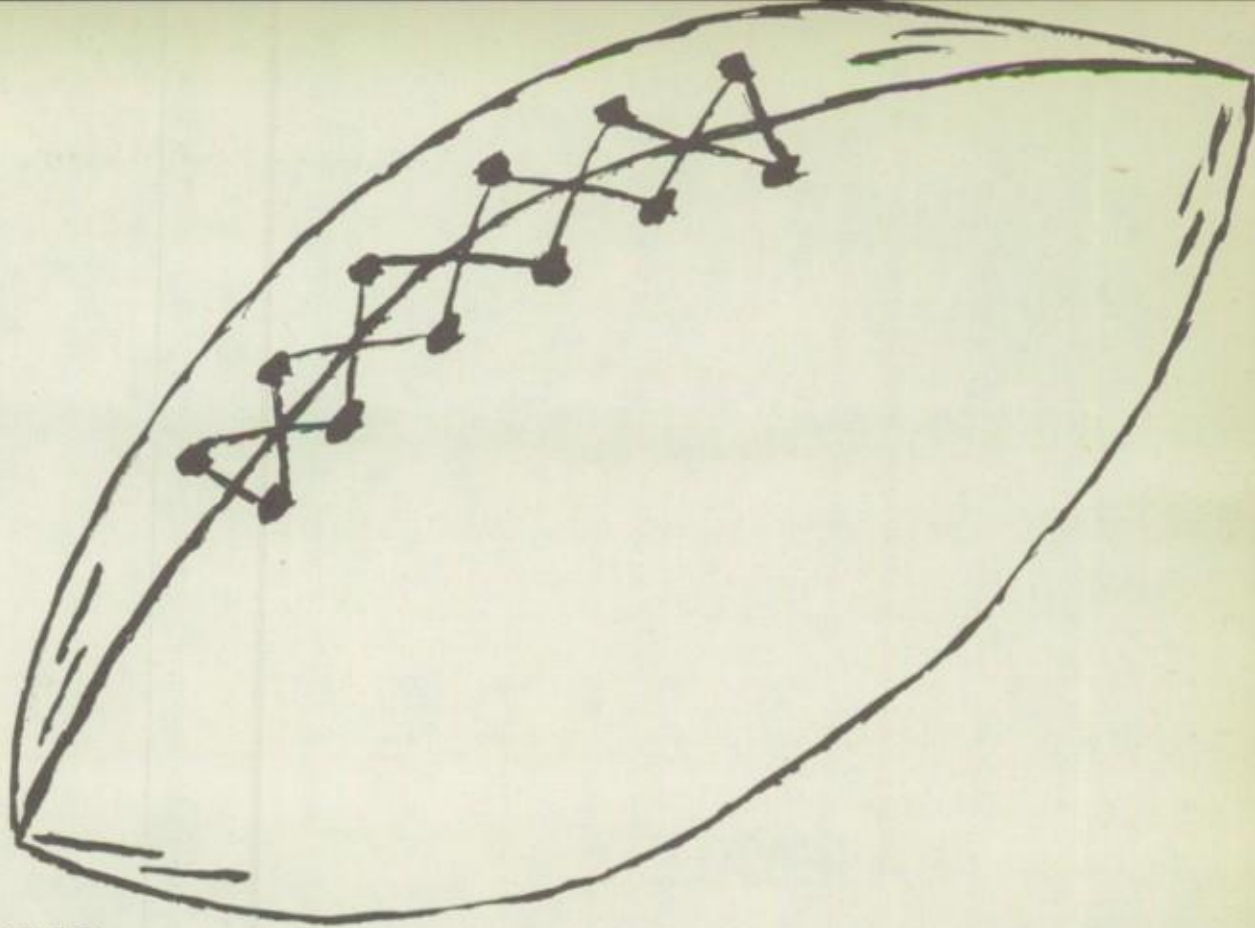

Since this is a new sport for C.U.H.S. the team displayed a wonderful exhibition for being so inexperienced. The coaches feel proud of the players' courage and hope to have many more boys at tryouts next summer, to insure a great team in future years at C.U.H.S.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

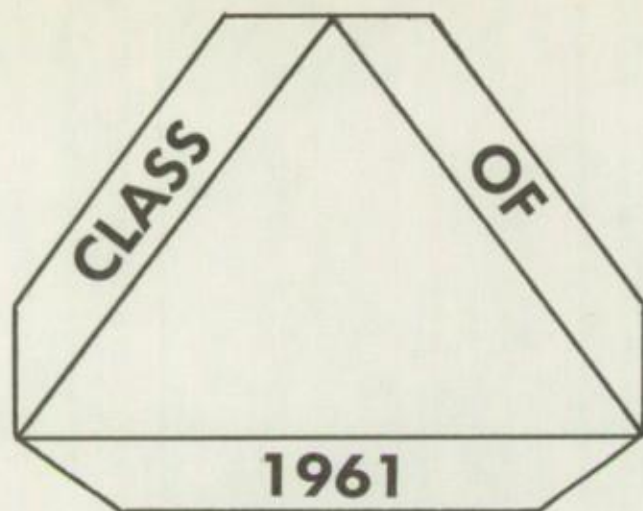

During the past year, the following served as officers of the F.H.A. club: Rochelle Lausch, president; Nancy Burkhart, vice president; Joanne Youndt, secretary; Janet Fox, treasurer, and Janet Musser, historian.

The club's purpose is to further interest in home economics. Initiation of new members, a Christmas party, a white elephant sale, and the Crosnor project have been some of its projects during the past year.

All club members (thirty-three) are recognized members of the national and state organizations, upon joining the local chapter. The ultimate goal of all the local chapters in Lancaster County is to form a county chapter.

Faculty advisors for the F.H.A. have been Mrs. Wise and Mrs. Graham.

The seventh grade of Cocalico Union High School is divided into five sections. The sections, their homerooms, and homeroom teachers are as follows:

7A's homeroom is 102. Their homeroom teacher is Mrs. Drumm. 7B's homeroom is 120. Miss Strohl is their homeroom teacher. 7C is in room 105 with Mr. Flinchbaugh as homeroom teacher. 7D's homeroom is 106. Homeroom teacher is Mrs. Bright; and Mrs. Wise is the homeroom teacher for 7E, which has its homeroom in the library.

The advisor for the seventh grades is Mrs. Bright. There are approximately 174 students in the class.

A new and welcome experience to most of the students at C.U.H.S. is the privilege of having a hot lunch at school. The modernly equipped cafeteria serves low cost, well balanced meals to anyone desiring such. Brightly deco-

TRI-HI-Y CLUB

The Y-Clubs are an organization composed of students in grades 10 to 12. They are under the sponsorship of the YWCA and the YMCA.

The Tri-Hi-Y for girls is a companion to the Hi-Y Club for boys and together they form the high school youth program.

Their purpose is to "create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of christian character."

Kring, B. McQuate, E. Martzall, V. Bard, M. Strickler. THIRD ROW: P. Showalter, W. Sotter, W. Miller, E. Martzall, H. Showalter, M. Lorah. Absent when picture was taken: P. Ream.

LIBRARY CLUB

"The Cocalico Union Book Worms," title of the library club, was under the direction of Miss Rathje and had 146 members.

A convention, held at Millersville on March 24, was attended by the officers and two delegates, Lavern Sweigart and Martha Stayer.

Teacher—Mr. Rupp

DRIVER'S TRAINING

The Driver Training Course is taught by Mr. Rupp, and consists of thirty hours of classroom work, and eight hours behind the wheel.

This course is not compulsory, in order to take the course, a student must be sixteen years old before the close of the term.

The students are tested for reaction time and are also given color and eye tests.

The advantages of Driver Training are, that the insurance rates are lowered, and that it gives the driver the opportunity to learn and practice correct driving habits.

GUIDANCE

The main purpose of guidance is to help the student to help himself, through competent social, emotional, physical and mental adjustment.

The seventy grade students are given an orientation to the present school situation.

To the eighth grade students vocational guidance is offered through a study of various occupations.

The freshmen students are prepared for their entrance to senior high school, through educational and vocational guidance.

Tenth to twelfth grade guidance is given through personal interviews. The student is given personality, adjustment and aptitude tests, to discover the type of work he or she will excel in. Students are given aid in selecting a college, securing financial aid to enter college, if necessary, and are also given aid as to how to gain entrance to a college.

For individuals who plan to enter the fields of industry, or are planning a career in the armed forces, the guidance department aids that student in selecting the position which best suits his ability and fits his needs.

Mr. Trout and Vivian Brubaker

AUDITORIUM

The auditorium is decorated with several hues of red. The seating capacity is 750. The large stage in front of the auditorium is equipped with stage lights, rostrum, microphones, and a large screen for movies to be shown from the projection room located in the back of the auditorium.

On the wall section between the two auditorium entrances is a Guy Bard plaque as shown on the left.

Several student assemblies were held in the auditorium throughout the year. Many were presented by school organizations.

Annual Commencement and Baccalaureate services are held in the auditorium at the time of graduation.

Tri-Hi-Y assembly presented "This Is Your Life" with Robert Getz Jr. as the surprised guest.

Mike Weinhold in campaign speech at student assembly. Election of Student Council president held in the auditorium gave Mike the victory.

Six would-be actors and actresses live in New York City. Norman and Kate try to manage the apartment by keeping things in a systematic order. George is the comic of the group; Dottie is the "Dumb Dora" type who pays all the bills (with the money her father sends her). Tony and Marge are the romantic couple who are secretly married. All six are looking for a "break" in the theater.

In the apartment below them lives a producer, Mr. Kenny, whose play, "Mostly Murder," is now running on Broadway. The kids try to get him to come and see their version of his play, secretly hoping that he will give them jobs.

In the meantime, Muriel Foster, an old school mate of Dottie's drops in and discovers that they all share the same apartment.

Dottie's father also drops in quite unexpectedly, and the girls make every effort to get the boys out before Mr. Coburn discovers that they are also living there.

One night, Mr. Kenny finally consents to come up to see their play. Muriel, who has just stopped in to pay a visit, suddenly finds that she is to be the missing prop, the corpse.

Mr. Kenny finally arrives, and they begin to enact the play, only to be interrupted by Mrs. Garnet, their landlady, and the policemen, who hear the disturbance and begin to investigate.

There they find Muriel lying on the sofa, appearing to be dead . . . they have quite a time convincing them that this is only a play.

Mr. Coburn decides that this life is definitely not the type that Dottie should be having; and tells Dottie that she must go back to Boston with him. However, Norman tells Mr. Coburn that she won't because he wants to marry her.

Mr. Kenny and Mrs. Garnet come in at this point. Mr. Kenny gives all the kids the jobs they worked so hard for, and Mrs. Garnet gets her back rent, (from Dottie's father, of course). So ends "Out of the Frying Pan."

SENIOR HIGH CHORUS

Senior chorus had seventy-nine members, and is directed by Mr. Gates and accompanied by Harold Sweigart, Faye Weik, and Caroline Davidson.

The chorus presented several assembly programs and a spring concert.

Linda Levenson, Joyce Fitterling, Carol Sweigart, Caroline Davidson, Faye Weik, Lorna White, Cynthia Gockley, Judy Hershey, Louise Lesher, John White, and Joe Nissley represented C.U.H.S. at County Chorus. Southern District Chorus representatives were John White and Carol Sweigart.

JR. HIGH CHORUS

There are seventy voices in the junior high school chorus, and are directed by Mr. Gates and accompanied by Dennis Sweigart.

The chorus presented an assembly program and a spring concert.

DANCE BAND

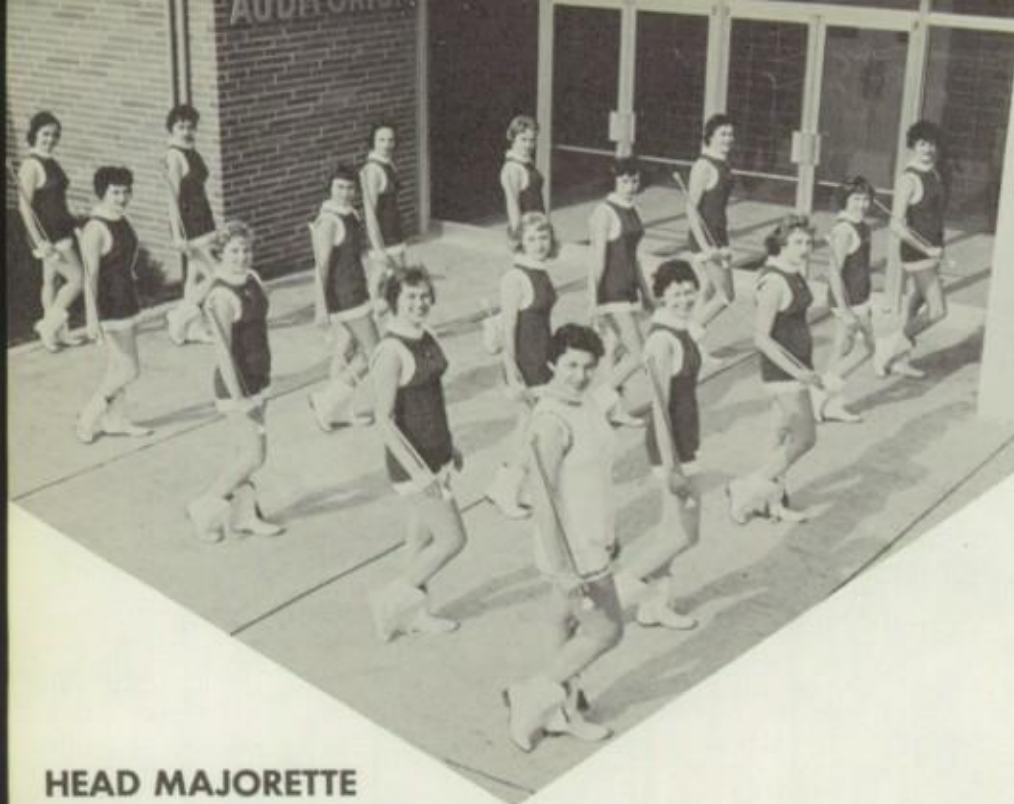

Dance band members this year were Ted Woods, Nolan Leid, Jonathan Haws, Phyllis Rutt, Fred Glass, Eugene Heft, Ray Sweigart, Fred Binkley, Eugene Dietrich, Dennis Snader, Kenneth Pentz, Philip Hornberger, Barry Noll, Ronald Garman, and Barbara Summers. Accompanist was Caroline Davidson and director was Mr. Sweigart.

The dance band participated in various assembly programs and also in the Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y variety show. It is a favorite of all C.U.H.S. students.

In addition to marching in various parades, the eighty members of the band presented assembly programs and a spring concert. Band officers were: Eugene Heft, president; Connie Bixler, secretary and treasurer, and Kenneth Pentz, vice president. Representing our school at County Band were: Gladys Albright, Phyllis Rutt, Eugene Heft, Thelma Tucker, Lowell Haws, Fay Binkley, Barbara Summers, Jonathon Haws, Phillip Hornberger, and William Pierce. Gladys Albright was our only representative at County Orchestra. Southern District Band representatives were Phyllis Rutt and Gladys Albright.

ART

Our senior-high elective art course had approximately sixty students, who were under the direction of Miss Neidhart. These students, expressing themselves artistically, made beautiful as well as useful articles. Some of their projects were wood carving, clay modeling, leather craft, copper enameling, painting with various materials such as oils, caseins, water colors, tempera paints, and also textile painting.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The Industrial Arts Department, having been organized for the first time at Cocalico Union High School during the 1955-56 school year, is offering instruction in the following areas: woodworking, sheet metal, bench metal, machine shop, printing and mechanical drawing. However, in the near future the following areas will be added: electricity, forging, foundry, ceramics, plastics and art metal.

In junior high school the students are given an opportunity to get experience in as many areas as possible. In senior high, the student can expect more advanced work in his chosen area. While industrial arts training does not prepare a student for a trade it does however help him to decide on a vocation through class discussion, outside assignments and practical experience in the shop.

AGRICULTURE

KoKo, as he enters the Vocational Agriculture Department, finds that the purpose of the course and the F. F. A. club are similar.

Highlighting the club's yearly program is F. F. A. Week at Penn State College. Those who represented Cocalico Union last year were Eugene Dietrich, Barry Noll, Harold Noll, Lavern Lausch, Clifford Hirneisen and Larry Gensemer.

The club has gone on numerous field trips, among them was the West Lampeter Livestock Judging contest, which was won by Donald Keith.

Activities, this school year, included the Seed Service program, an assembly program and athletic tournaments.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

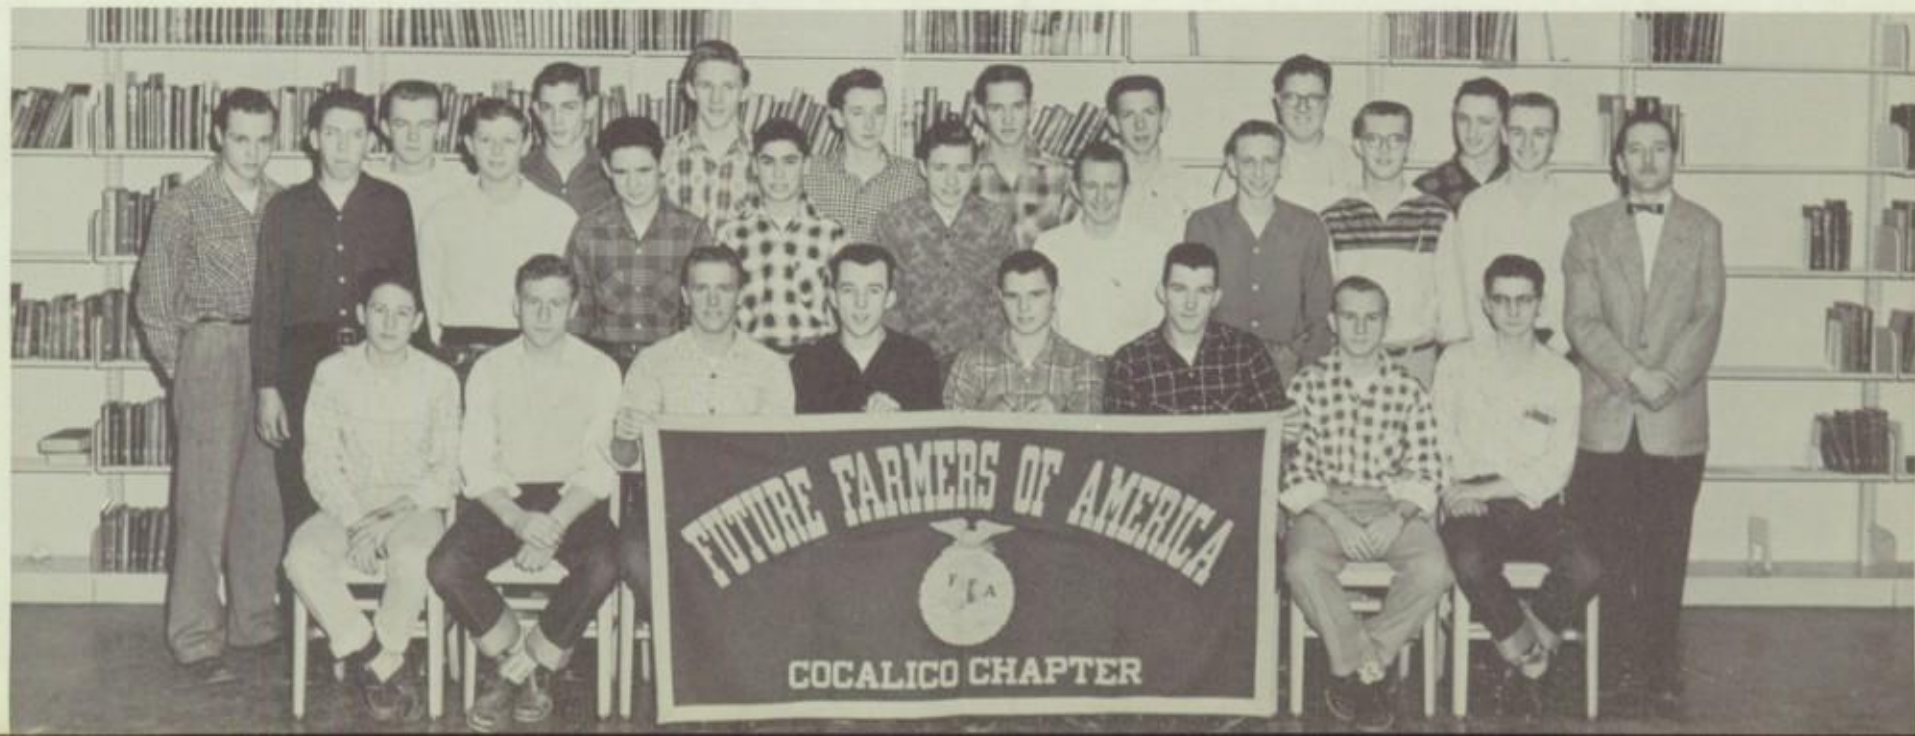

The thirty-three members of the F. F. A., who have Mr. Drumm as a faculty advisor, elected the following officers: president, Eugene Heft; vice president, Eugene Dietrich; secretary, Larry Gensemer; treasurer, Clifford Hirneisen; reporter, Jonathan Haws; chaplain, Dale Witmer; sentinel, Lavern Lausch.

Clifford Hirneisen, Larry Gensemer, Eugene Heft, Eugene Dietrich, Donald Graybill, and Robert Good all have Chapter Farmer Degrees which are given by F. F. A. club.
